KIDDIE BLING THINGS

Well, we present this question: How soon is it to introduce your baby, tot or tween to jewels? Well Iceing on Top thinks it's never soon enough. As the company says, "When it comes to children, there is just no limit."

Inspired by children and their need for expression (beyond crayons), New York City moms and founders, gemologist and financier, Shella Eckhouse and Chelsey Field, say Iceing on Top's line of fine jewelry is, "a unique treat for babies and kids – and especially the adults who love to dress them up!" Well, nuff said.

Just Because I Love You

Eckhouse and Fields were seeking affordable and well designed jewelry that marked milestones in children's lives: Births, baptisms, christenings, bat mitzvahs, graduations and holidays. Not finding anything on the market, they decided to create their own line.

Iceing on Tops' signature pieces are created from 14-karat yellow, white and rose gold that are configured into bangles, bracelets, earrings and necklaces. Go to www.iceingontop.com to order and learn more.
